THE ELECTION.

THE CLIMAX held open its columns till 9 o'clock, this morning, hoping to receive a special telegram ordering from Cincinnati concerning the election. But it came not, and we fear the news is not so good as it might have been.

The best we can learn is that Indiana and Illinois have gone Democratic. Massachusetts has elected a Democratic Governor and Louisiana sends a solid Democratic delegation to Congress.

McKinley is probably elected. Brockbridge of Arkansas is probably elected, but not certainly.

It is probable that the next Congress will be Democratic. Ohio has gone Republican. Philadelphia is Republican.

CONGRESSMAN McCREARY made his farewell speech of the campaign at the court-house, Monday. He had a crowded house and great interest was manifested.

Governor JAMES H. McCREARY was re-elected to Congress yesterday, carrying every precinct in the Eighth district. On to the Speakership of the 32nd Congress.

A LITERARY SUCCESS.

It has been considered next to impossible for a literary journal to profitably exist in the South. But "The Old Roman," published at Savannah, Georgia, by Davis Bros., has reached a circulation of thirty thousand, and holds a handsome four-story house with all the most approved modern machinery. This shows what can be done by the people of the New South when a deserving journal shows itself.

THE "OLD ROMAN" BANQUET.

THE CLIMAX acknowledges the honor of an invitation from the Thurman Club of Columbus, Ohio, to the "Old Roman" banquet, in honor of Hon. Allen G. Thurman, on his seventieth birthday, to come to that city Thursday, November 15. This affair promises to reflect credit on its promoters, and to be worthy of the distinguished statesman and banqueter whose seventy-seventh birthday is to be commemorated. A well-known Chicago caterer has been awarded the contract for the banquet, which is to be the first-class in all respects, with 1,000 plates will be laid. Speeches will be made by prominent Democrats, including ex-President Cleveland, and the "Old Roman" himself. It is a most desirable Democratic social event.

A TRIP BY A FORMER CITIZEN OF RICHMOND TO NATIONAL PARK.

[Correspondence of the Climax.]
 THEIR LARGE, MOSTLY, Oct. 30.—I have just returned from an extended tour of seven or eight hundred miles, to the National Park, where I had the pleasure of seeing many grand and mysterious developments of nature. Our company was composed of John and William Williams, their families, myself and a young man to drive one of the wagons.
 We started on the 25th day of August, fully equipped with good teams, provisions, bedding, tents, in fact everything that was calculated to make the company happy and the trip pleasant. We returned twenty-eight days thereafter.
 After travelling over hills and dales for eight days we arrived in the Fishlake Basin of the Park, in a shower of rain about seven o'clock in the evening. We put up our tents as quickly as possible, and proceeded to get supper, which, when prepared, was enjoyed by the company very much. When we arose the following morning we found the ground covered with snow. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather we visited the Twin Domes and the Queen's Laundry, large boiling springs. We next visited the Excelsior Geyser and Prismatic Lake. We lingered around there for hours waiting for the Geyser to erupt, but it had one of its contrary fits, and failed. It looked like a large boiling caldron, covering an acre of ground, seething and bubbling all the time; the lake is beautiful, presenting to the eye all the prismatic colors of the rainbow.
 After our curiosities had been gratified at this point we went to the Basin, where geysers and boiling pools are very numerous; among them is Old Faithful, who is a regular performer. At intervals of every thirty-five minutes she belches forth, throwing the spray and water from seventy-five to one hundred feet and containing twenty or thirty minutes. We also saw the River-Side, Splendid, Grant, Castle, Grand, Beehive, Grotto, Lion, Linness and the two others, besides many others too tedious to mention. Of the pools we visited there were the Wash Bowl, Morning Glory, Gey, Pan, Sponge, Mirror, Black Sand, Basin, Daisy, Punch Bowl and others, all vying with each other in beauty of prismatic colors. These pools are generally of an oblong or circular form, from eight to fifteen feet in diameter, and some of them are very deep; the depth of one has been sounded eight hundred feet, and no bottom found.
 We next visited Yellow Stone Lake. It is the most magnificent body of water in the known world at that altitude, it being ten thousand feet above the level of the sea. Its dimensions are twenty by thirty-six miles. A small steamer runs on it for the accommodation of tourists, but we did not try it for a high wind was blowing, lashing its waves into fury, reminding one of old ocean when swept by a typhoon. The grandest of all is the Yellow Stone Falls. If the volume of water were equal to Niagara it would be tumbled eight feet from the edge of mauve earth. The falls being some distance apart, could not be seen at the same time, but the upper falls can be distinctly heard at the lower falls, the former falling a distance of one hundred and sixty feet, the latter three hundred and fifty feet. The canyon through which the water passes is very narrow. The water is what is known as the body of water that flows from the Yellow Stone Lake and the tributaries of the Yellow Stone river before reaching the falls, as there is not volume enough of water at the falls to hide the rocks in the channel over which it makes its precipitous leap. It is now impinging the surrounding cliffs and sending high up toward heaven amid the thunder of its roar, on whose topmost peaks can be seen the American eagle nesting and making his river flow present to the tour-

The last place visited was the Mammoth Hot Springs. It certainly has the right name. It is a high mass of sulphur formation, with hot springs bubbling up all over the area of elevated mountain-like ground. A palatial hotel, a U. S. post office, hospital, blacksmith shop, post-office and a few residences constitute the buildings in the little town. The N. P. R. R. runs within seven miles of this place. Cincinnati is the station where tourists, who travel by rail to the Park, take coaches and go through. At every important point in the Park is a large and commodious hotel built by a syndicate of railroad men who have a lease on the ground and transportation privileges for twenty years.

The hotels are very large, containing from one hundred and fifty to three hundred rooms; fine, $100 per day.
 The Gallatin, Jefferson and Ruby valleys are beautiful indeed. I saw more wheat, oats and barley standing in shocks than I have seen since I left Kentucky and Texas. The rivers running through these valleys are large, affording plenty of water for irrigation.

Butte, the first city we reached going to the Park, is the largest mining camp in the world, containing a population of fifty thousand. Virginia City, the next point of interest we passed, is the first mining camp established in the States, where "old timers" made their start in 1860, which culminated in the present growth of the State, it being among the first of the mining States of the "Great North-West." Bozeman, the first city we reached on our return, is the county seat of Gallatin county. It has a population of two thousand and is supported by large flouring mills and the richest agriculture valley in the State. Helena is another mining camp grown into a large city, claiming fifteen or twenty thousand. It also claims more wealth than any city in the world. Deer Lodge, the point from which we started, is a beautiful city, situated on the Deer Lodge river. It has a population of fifteen hundred and is the educational center of the State.

J. R. WILLIAMS.

CONCERNING FARMERS.

At a public sale in Mercer county corn sold at $2.74 cents.

Harvey Cobb had shipped from La Grange, Saturday, seven jacks and nine jennets.

At the following sale in Jessamine county sold at $1.70 to $1.10 per bushel; hogs at $3.00, and six acres of tobacco at $200 per acre.

The great tobacco warehouse trust has at last been organized and the articles of incorporation filed with the county clerk at Louisville.

T. E. Wood is buying up quite a drove of horses. He has already bought about 200, prices ranging from $3 to $5 cents—Lawrence Reel.

E. T. Johnson bought of different parties for $1000 (1) Johnson 150 steers, weighing from 1,000 to 1,400 pounds at 3 cents.

At Rardin, in Mercer county, 70 hogs were bought in small lots at 31 to 32 cents. Three cars of hogs were bought elsewhere in the county at $2.25 to $2.75.

At public sale corn brought $2.74 per barrel.

The cattle market in Madison, the past few days, has been brisk and prices good. Some 1200 pound 2-year-olds sold for 31 cents; about 200 fat cattle, 1700 to 1800 pounds, sold at $4.50. Mr. T. D. Clement sold 120 head, and Mr. James B. Barker 70.

J. W. Wilkerson, says the Advocate, is shipping from Mt. Sterling about 20 car loads of cattle per week, for which he is paying from $3.50 to $4.50 per hundred. W. H. Bush shipped last week 227 cattle to Boston for export, for which he paid from 37 to 40 cents. They averaged 1,200 pounds.

At Mason & Henry's sale of jacks, jennets and horses, on Wednesday of last week, stock sold as follows: 20 head of horses, $30 to $175; mule colts $45 to $75; 9 jacks from $25 to $50; 40 jennets from $45 to $125. Smith & Bridges sold a jack to D. L. Smith for $1,150. Mr. Nathan Southern, of Kent.

The Ohio County Kentucky Fair Company has made an arrangement with S. W. Williams, of the grounds near Hartwood, were improved about five years ago and nearly every fair since has been held in bad weather. The last fair more than paid out but not enough to pay for former 11 luck—Farmers' Home Journal.

E. W. Lee, representing Lehman, of Cincinnati, has made the following report of sales in this county: A car-load of 1,500 pound cattle of J. A. Harris & Son; a car-load of J. F. Cash, weight, 1,575; a car-load of John O. Neal, weight, 1,550; and 2 car-loads of R. Neal, weighing 1,500; $400 was the price paid—Shelton.

The Mexican Government has placed a duty of $500 per car upon American cattle, and has also refused to permit the 500 bushels of grain, sent with each car of cattle as feed, to go through unless a duty of thirty cents per bushel be paid. This action is understood to be purely retaliatory against the McKinley tariff statesmanship.

Kentucky, this year, produced only one and a half million bushels of potatoes, or less than any of the large potato-producing States. The largest producer is Michigan with nearly ten million bushels, which is about as much as Iowa, Wisconsin and Iowa, 7,000,000. The total yield in the United States is 123,000,000 bushels, or only half of last year's crop.

L. T. Polk, National President of the Farmers' Alliance, from a tour through the States of Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa and Illinois, says the growth of the Alliance is unprecedented, and says Alliance members have formed thirty-five States, numbering in all 34,000 lodges and embracing a membership of 2,000,000. He expects the membership to be increased to 5,000,000 within the next year.

T. D. English reports the sale of C. H. English on the 22nd and J. W. Linney, of Mercer, on the 23rd as well attended and good prices realized. Mr. English sold about 40 horses and several lots of cattle. Horses ranged from $55 to $275, as to quality and breeding. Cattle 21 to 24 cents, as to quality. J. W. Linney sold 20 horses that brought from $100 to $150, as to quality; 6 mule colts from $30 to $65 per head; scrub sheep $5.50 to $4.50 per head; some fat cows and heifers 21 to 31 cents—Journal-Advocate.

Court Day Sales—Report of Capt. Tom Ferrill, Auctioneer. The stock sales from Water Street being a new thing, worked better than was expected. A great many stock men expressed dissatisfaction over the change, and owing to the crowd and heat, it got down there the sales were hard to make and prices low. One yearling steer, good grade, $25.00; 13 long yearlings, not so good, $10.70; 14 feeders, low grade, $23.00, or about 20; one 2-year-old mare, he was a one-yearling mule, $40; mule colts from $15 to $45; about 600 cattle on the market. Mules were plentiful and hard to sell; not much demand for stock and consequently the day was a dull one.

The Kentucky Farmers' Institute met at Bardonia on Tuesday of last week. Dr. Clardy of Christian county, President; Dr. B. Hall, editor of the Farmers' Home Journal, Secretary. Hon. Charles Y. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture was present, also Professors M. A. Scoville and H. Gorman, of the experimental station of the A. and M. college. The Institute held two days. The subjects discussed were: Fertilizers, General depreciation of farm lands in Kentucky, value of clover as a fertilizer, the best education for farmers' children, effect of clover on soil, best dwelling house for the farmer, why every farmer should raise all kinds of fruit, the experimental station of the A. and M. college, raising hams, the nursery business for Kentucky, the selection of seeds, the better dairy, merits of Holstein-Friesian cattle, the tobacco warehouse consolidation. Resolutions were adopted condemning the warehouse consolidation. A resolution was adopted endorsing Mr. M. S. Sennock, of Kentucky, for superintendent of horticulture at the World's Fair. Mr. J. H. Stewart, of Harlan county, brother-in-law of Dr. Rankin Mason, of Madison county, read a paper on the best education for farmers' children, which brought out numerous comments and occupied the entire evening session. Mr. Stewart also occupied the chair the last day of the session. The next meeting will be held at Lexington, the time to be hereafter announced, and every farmer should attend.

A TIGHT SPOT IN KANSAS.

[Correspondence of the Climax.]

CLEAR WATER, Oct. 27th, 1899.

I will send you a few items from this part of the West. I am a Madison county man, and feel interested in my friends in old Madison.

Times here are hard. The farmers as a class are the most hardup people I ever saw. There is no home market for grain—all has to be shipped East. The stock market is very dull. Horses and mules are a dead drag. I have not heard of a horse or mule selling since I have been here. Cattle very low; hogs about the same as in Kentucky. I learn from the farming class that one corn crop in three is about the average here, and one in four for wheat. Real estate has declined a great deal in the last five years. A house and lot that would have sold five years ago for a thousand dollars, can now be bought for one hundred and fifty dollars—six hundred dollars less than the cost of the building. Town lots at one sold for one hundred dollars can now be bought for five dollars—I speak of Clearwater. I suppose all other towns are the same.

I learn that fifty-eight thousand of Kansas population left last year. At that rate it would not take long to depopulate the State.

This is the dearest country I ever saw. My advice to people who live in Madison county is to not come here to better their condition—farming here is too uncertain, and trade is as dull as a door-nail.

Yesterday I took a walk on the Santa Fe railroad a mile east to view a dog town. I took a field glass so as to get a better view. The dogs were everywhere. They are lively little fellows.

Kansas is a Prohibition State, yet whisky is sold all the same. The drinking places are called "joints." The whisky-sellers are hardly ever prosecuted.

Thousands of tons of hay and millet will be burned this winter. There are thousands of bushels of corn piled up on the farms without shelter. All has to be shipped East, or lay and rot.

There are a great many people stuck here. They bought land at a high price and can not sell it all, or if they do sell they have to take a very low price, so they hold on, hoping to some day come out even. But it is my opinion they will be stuck for many years. J. T. K.

The Methodist church deals with its preachers who do the sacred robes of their calling to tend the lives of the people. The Tennessee Conference suspended Dr. Kelley, who gave up his church to become the prohibition candidate for Governor from all ministerial functions for six months. A little discipline in some of the other churches would give the public more respect for them—Interior Journal.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Fannie A. Morton, well-known as an attractive visitor from Winchester to friends in Richmond, will be married November 13th, to Mr. Walter Jackson, of Shreveport, La.

Miss Hattie G. Enbark and Mr. William Huls, both of Clark, were married at Reddick church, that county, last week. The Rev. H. D. Clark, of Mt. Sterling, pronouncing the ceremony. The bride is a daughter of ex-Assessor, John Enbark, and the groomson of Mr. W. D. Huls, brother of Mr. Thomas Huls, of Richmond. The latter's daughter, Miss Mary Huls, was married and played the wedding march which was much complimented by those present. Among those present were Mrs. W. H. Sale, this county, Mrs. T. J. Huls and daughters, this place and Mrs. C. B. Sale, of Bessemer, Alabama. The handsome appearance of the couple was remarked.

DIED.

Widow Lucas died near Big Hill Friday.

Mrs. B. Francis died near Fort Estill in Madison county on Friday, Oct. 31st, 1899, aged about 90 years. Buried in Richmond cemetery, Sunday.

[Communicated.]
 Wm. T. Fox died at his home near Clays Ferry, in this county, Nov. 29, 1899, in the 83rd year of his age, who was during many years of his life prominent and useful citizen. If the writer is correct in his recollections "Uncle Billy," as we all called him, was twice chosen by the people of his native county to represent them in the halls of our State Legislature—once in the Lower House and once in the State Senate. "Uncle Billy" was once chosen by the people as Assessor over one of the best and most popular citizens of Madison county, but never afterwards would consent to serve as in a public way. He was never married. But none who knew him can ever forget the great and abiding interest he took in the children of his sisters, all of whom preceded him to the Gray Land. He was a grandson of Capt. Townsend, one of the pioneers, who served with Boone and Calloway in the days that tried men's souls. He loved the Democracy of Jefferson and Jackson and never failed to support the chosen standard-bearer of those principles. We have laid him away in our beautiful resting place of the dead, but shall not soon forget his many noble traits of character.

A. T. C.

Bryant Steyer died at his home, near Old Fort Park of Otter Creek, near Red

House, in Madison county, Ky., on Tuesday, October 30th, 1899, aged 80 years and six months. He was born in the county, near where he died, and never lived far from that point. In fact his father, Charles Steyer, came to Boonesborough, in 1775, with Daniel Boone, and helped build the fort, which stood only several miles away. Charles Steyer had a brother and a cousin, Bartlett and Richard Steyer, who were daring pioneers. The three were in the party who were surprised by the Indians in Rockcastle county with disastrous results, while on the way to Kentucky. They were with the party that rescued the daughters of Boone and Calloway. Richard was killed near Fort Estill. Some of the Steyers were at Dudley's defeat and saw the grandest of a water. The Steyers were always at the front in times of danger. Bryant Steyer was a gunsmith and as perfect a rifle-lock, stock and barrel—as could anywhere be found in antebellum days. He was also an expert in the manufacture of various metal wares, including pocket spoons and knives, and many pieces of his handiwork are yet to be found in the county, preserved as mementoes of an early day. One of his daughters, Mrs. Alexander, has the copper moulds in which spoons were made. Bryant Steyer was a brother of Charles Steyer, Sr., of Waco, who was the inventor of a water wheel in all essential respects like the Turbine. He also invented a machine that was never patented, but which was perhaps his own original idea. He was the father of C. L. Steyer, inventor of Steyer's Ledger. There is a wonderful amount of genius in the Steyer family.

$100 REWARD. $400.

The readers of the CLIMAX will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure and in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer. One hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
